Section 4 - Policy

Principles

(10) RMIT expects, encourages and supports employee ethical behaviour, and does not tolerate fraud or corruption.

(11) RMIT maintains trust with the public by exhibiting the highest standards of integrity in its operations and decision making. It recognises that fraud and corruption can create reputational and financial damage to RMIT which undermines public confidence, employee and student productivity and morale.

(12) RMIT takes a risk-based approach to managing fraud and corruption through the Risk Management Framework which requires all risks relating to fraud and corruption to be identified, assessed, responded to and monitored on an ongoing basis.

(13) The effectiveness of the mechanisms used to control fraud and corruption risks are evaluated and reported to the Audit and Risk Management Committee on a biennial basis.

Identifying fraud and corruption risks

(14) 'Fraud and corruption' is a risk domain in RMIT's risk management framework.

(15) Senior managers in high-risk areas apply RMIT's risk management tools and activities to identify potential opportunities for fraud and corruption in their area of responsibility. Examples of high-risk areas and activities are included in Schedule 1 – Examples of Corrupt Conduct, Fraud, Public Interest Disclosures and High-Risk Activities.

(16) Identified fraud and corruption risks are recorded in the enterprise risk management system. Identified risks inform the development of prevention, detection and response strategies.

Prevention

(17) RMIT prevents fraud and corruption through:

- a. transparent, accountable and responsible decision making
- b. strong governance practices and policies
- c. training and awareness raising for employees and business areas, particularly around high-risk activities
- d. effective risk management and reporting
- e. security of physical assets and facilities to protect from theft

- b. post-transactional reviews

They are also advised to notify Central Complaints and Investigations if there is a financial element to the misconduct they are investigating. Any matters relating to student fraud are managed under the Student Conduct Policy.

Response

(20) RMIT ensures procedural fairness when dealing with fraudulent or corrupt conduct allegations as set out in the Fraud and Corruption Investigation Instruction.

(21) Investigations of potential fraud and corruption are handled by specific and suitably qualified and trained employees or contractors, and in accordance with the relevant legislation, enterprise agreement and RMIT policies and procedures.

(22) The preliminary assessment of an allegation may determine that the matter needs immediate referral to the police or IBAC for them to conduct the investigation.

(23) The outcome for employees found to have engaged in fraud or corruption is determined:

- a. in accordance with the relevant enterprise agreement, the Managing Conduct Procedure, and any other relevant policies
- b. by the relevant senior officer as defined in the Delegation of Authority Schedule 3 – People Delegations.

(24) RMIT may take legal or administrative action to reclaim any resources misappropriated through fraud or corruption, where appropriate.
