Section 4 - Procedure

General Rules for Allocation and Occupancy of University Space

(4) All persons must comply with all applicable legislation, RMIT's policies, procedures and rules and any RMIT direction, sign or notice while on RMIT's campus and locations.

(5) Space allocated for use by organisational units is periodically reviewed.

(6) New or refurbished general teaching classrooms follow the requirements set out in the Tertiary Education Facilities Management Association (TEFMA) Space Planning Guidelines.

(7) Property Services, in conjunction with stakeholders, determines common teaching spaces that are centrally managed, and those that are College/Portfolio or School/Group/Entity supported specialist spaces.

(8) RMIT may implement procedures to support the regulation of parking including by defining criteria for the allocation of on-campus parking. (Refer to Parking on Campus webpage for further information).

(9) Space is shared across organisational units to optimise its effective use.

(10) Space that is identified as being ineffectively utilised after an audit by Property Services may be reassigned or repurposed.

Research

(11) Space is allocated within research laboratories to researchers and research teams for set periods of time, which normally equates to the expected life of the research project or grant. At the end of this time, approval for use of the allocated space automatically expires, unless the project or grant has a formally approved extension.

(12) Research space that becomes vacant due to discontinuation of a project, expiry of a project or departure of the researcher or team, is re-purposed by Property Services in consultation with the occupying College/School or Portfolio.

(13) Laboratory space:

- a. is reallocated as demonstrated needs change;
- b. must not be used to store inactive equipment or past experiments; and
- c. must be reviewed annually by the responsible organisational unit.

HDR Student Spaces

(16) Higher degree by research (HDR) students are provided with access to laboratory or studio research spaces as necessary for the completion of their program. In addition, appropriate, bookable and shared workspaces are provided to HDR students for purposes related to their HDR.

(17) HDR workspaces are regularly audited by Property Services Group and occupancy results reported to Colleges and Centres, the School of Graduate Research and controlled entities.

(18) If HDR students require more significant storage space than that provided within the workspace, then this must be accommodated within the School's existing space allocation.

(19) Additional responsibilities of Deans/Heads of Schools and HDR students in relation to space needs are referenced in the Higher Degrees by Research Policy.

Staff Workspace and Staff Rooms

(23) There is an overall space allocation target of 10m² to 12m² Net Lettable Area (NLA) per work point density including common spaces. This takes into account all areas classified as being non-teaching (office space, reception, staff rooms, meeting rooms, resource and administrative support/storage areas) including common areas, access and circulation space, but excludes lifts, common stairs, toilets, voids, plant. Refer to the Property Council of Australia for NLA definition.
